

Well, this is a bit awkward!

IC-9700 manual

“The Icom IC-9700 manual is now available in Japanese on the Icom website. Here is a link to a “rough” English translation. Thanks to Phil VK6ADF.”

VK6ADF did not create the translated manual, as you no doubt assumed.

Just thinking aloud... but a good journalist will always check their facts before publishing.

Unless you get 'news' from the grotty chaotic cesspool of dribble known as Facebook, where disinformation spreads like herpes amongst the orthographically challenged.

Maybe credit the correct people for the work they do?

Sick of Facebook?

Have you tried searching back on Facebook, through all the endless childish drivel, to try and find something?

Join a real ham radio discussion forum, for adults:

<http://www.vklogger.com/forum/>

If registering, please use your callsign in UPPERCASE as your username.

(this is the human/spambot test)